

IMNIS

INDUSTRY MENTORING
NETWORK IN STEM

What does IMNIS aim to do?

IMNIS is a prestigious national mentoring initiative that partners PhD students in STEM with an influential, high profile industry leader to prepare them to lead and excel within any part of the STEM ecosystem

What does IMNIS aim to do?

Break Down Barriers

IMNIS fosters a culture of innovation and collaboration between industry and academia through industry mentoring of PhD students

Extend Professional Networks

IMNIS provides PhD students the opportunity to engage with industry leaders and establish professional networks beyond academia

Advance Skills and Expand Career Scope

IMNIS provides PhD students the platform to learn about career opportunities and advance their implicit skills before graduation

Develop Future STEM Leaders

IMNIS ensures PhD students develop an understanding of research translation, innovation and commercialisation together with basic research

“ IMNIS fosters a new generation of industry savvy PhD graduates capable of industry engagement, collaboration and career transitioning with confidence ” - IMNIS Mentor

IMNIS is an inclusive and diverse initiative that has over 400 participants around Australia including more than 200 motivated PhD students and more than 200 high level industry leaders

“ The skills I am developing during this program will be highly transferable to my future career ” - IMNIS Mentee

Program activities

Mentoring:

IMNIS mentors and mentees meet in a professional setting for an hour each month for the duration of the program

Networking:

IMNIS mentees and mentors have the opportunity to meet and connect more broadly at a series of state-level events organised and hosted by IMNIS

Peer Mentoring:

IMNIS mentors and mentees are invited to connect with their peers and share their experiences in a relaxed setting

Support:

IMNIS mentors and mentees receive Guidelines containing their Program Coordinator's contact information, top tips for success and advice for staying motivated. The IMNIS team supports you throughout the program!
